Approve Planning For WT Buildings

Approval to preliminary work for the construction of two new dormitories and a major addition to the student union building has been granted West Texas State College by its governing board, President James P. Cornette announced Tuesday.

The Board of Regents of Texas State Teachers Colleges okayed WT's requests to begin planning the buildings, so construction can start by the fall of 1959 and so the bulidings would be ready for use by 1960.

The buildings will be financed by self-liquidating bonds, with a total cost of the three additions to be approximately $1,400,000. The dormitories, one each for men and women, are expected to cost about $500,000 each, and the addition to the student union about $400,000.

Last dormitory construction at WT was in 1956-57, when Brown and Terrill halls, the north addition to Stafford Hall, and the addition to the cafeteria, were built. These projects were also financed through self-liquidating bonds.

Dr. Cornette said the dormitories will be similar to Brown and Terrill halls, but that they will be two-story. Capacity for each will be about 200 students.

The student union will be expanded east from the present building, Dr. Cornette said. The student union was completed in 1953.

Drafting Committee Completes Work on Home Rule Charter Here

Drafting of a charter for submission to the voters of Canyon was completed Thursday night by a drafting committee of the Canyon Charter Commission.

The draft will be submitted to the 15-member commission at 7 p. m. If the charter is adopted by the entire commission, an order calling an election will probably be passed.

The charter has 16 articles covering every phase of city government, including a five-member commission with staggered terms and provisions for local self-government. Portions of the charter which were not agreed on by the five-member drafting committee will be submitted to the full commission Thursday night.

The portions which will probably be submitted include sections on franchises to utilities, and limits on purchases without advertisement for bidders.

Copies of the entire proposed charter will be mailed to each eligible voter prior to the election day so that voters may study the charter. The Chamber of Commerce is also planning a Town Hall meeting to help explain the charter.

All-Sports Honors Set Friday Night

Texas Tech head coach Dewitt Weaver will be guest speaker for the annual Canyon High School All-Sports Banquet Friday night in the elementary school cafeteria.

All Canyon sports fans are invited to the banquet. Tickets are $1.50 per plate, and are available at the high school.

Some 85 boys and 30 girls will be honored at the banquet, and special honors will be the Fighting Heart Award and the award to the Outstanding Basketball Player. The District 1-AA football co-championship trophy will be presented to the school during the banquet.

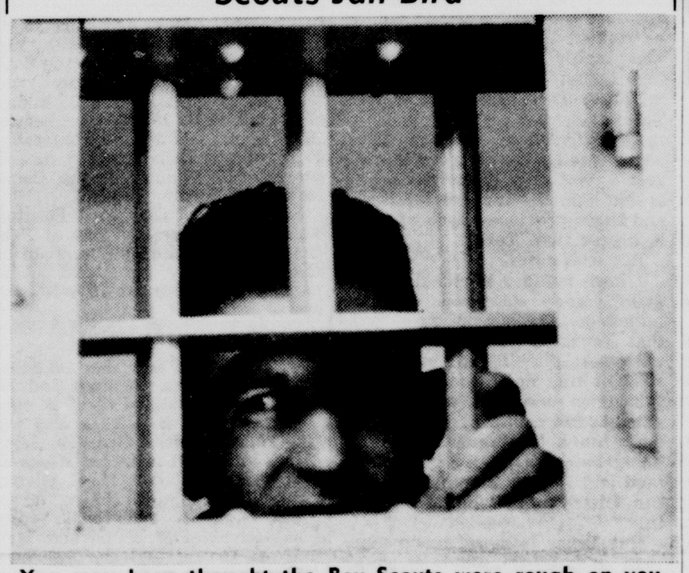
Dement Gets US 60 Contract

The apparent low bidder for construction of Highway 60 from Canyon to the Deaf Smith County line was Ivan Dement, Inc., of Amarillo, according to the state highway department.

Dement was one of five bidders, and his bid for the job was $1,089,018.15. The bids were opened Saturday by the State Highway Commission in Austin.

Dement has had the contract for construction of the two portions of the Amarillo-to-Canyon Expressway that have been built to date. His company is presently at work on the second of the two contracts, that part of the expressway from the top of Canyon Hill to Bell Avenue.

Scouts Jail Bird



You may have thought the Boy Scouts were rough on you when they gave you a jaywalking ticket Saturday morning, but Scoutmaster Oscar Hinger can tell a different story. He was jailed on a sentence of several minutes for "vagrancy" and "resisting arrest."

April Election Called by Board

The annual school board election, this time for three trustees, was called for April 4 in the Legion Hall in Canyon by the school board Tuesday night.

Terms of three members run out this year, those of A. C. Haley Jr., Bill Sternenberg and Walter Graham. All three filed for re-election.

Deadline for other candidates to file for the election is March 5. Prospective candidates must file with the board secretary, Sternenberg.

In other action, the board extended the two-year contracts of the three school principals for one year. The principals are J. E. Miller, high school, Lawrence Brotherton, junior high, and Rex Reeves, elementary.

2 Canyon Seniors Plan Advance Work

Two senior chemistry students at West Texas State College, both from Canyon, have been accepted for advanced study during the 1959-60 academic year.

Ken E. Kuykendall and Jack McCormick, both 1955 graduates of Canyon High School, will pursue studies at the Southwestern Medical School and the University of Illinois.

Kuykendall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Conway Kuykendall of Route 2, Happy, has been accepted by the Dallas branch of the University of Texas.

McCormick has been awarded an assistantship for graduate study in chemistry. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. McCormick of Canyon.

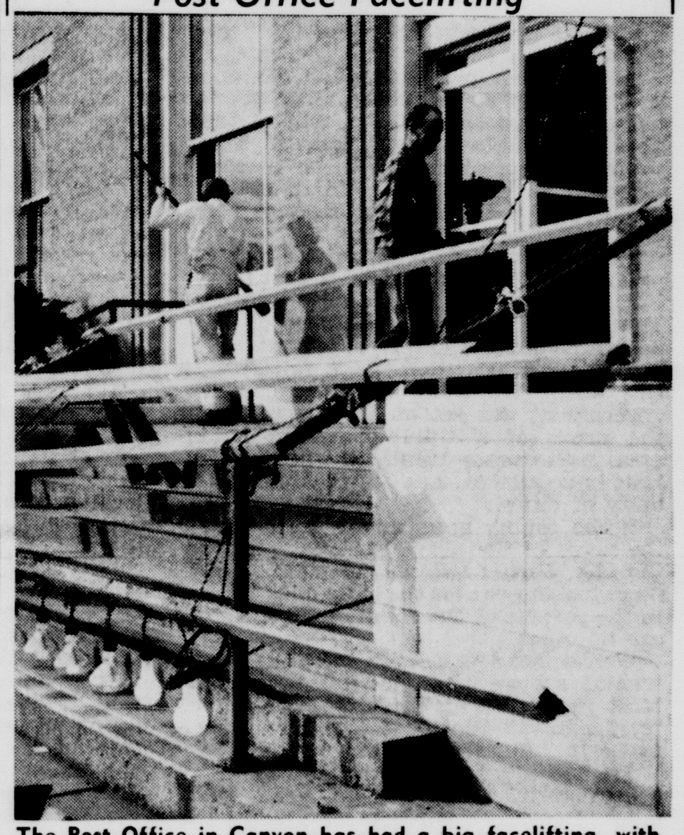
WT Coach's Father Dies in Graham

W. C. Jarnagin, father of Clark Jarnagin, West Texas State head football coach, died Sunday.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning in Graham.

In addition to the WT coach, survivors include his wife and two daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Jarnagin and their children went to Graham Sunday night.

Post Office Facelifting



The Post Office in Canyon has had a big facelifting, with new aluminum doors, new paint on window facings, a sand-blasting of the stone and the addition of abrasive strips on the front steps to aid sure footing.

TAOS ARTIST IS SPEAKER

Banquet Will Kickoff Art Festival

Eric Gibberd, noted Taos artist, will be speaker for the banquet Feb. 27 which opens the annual Festival of the Arts at West Texas State College.

The three departments of art, music, and speech sponsor the festival each year and present concerts, art exhibitions, and dramatic productions, all of which are open to the public.

Reservations for the banquet may be made through any of the sponsoring departments, and tickets will cost $2 a person. The dinner will be at 7 p. m. in the WT cafeteria.

Gibberd will speak on "The Nature and Value of Expression and Communication." More than a dozen of his paintings will also be displayed during the festival, which will close March 8.

Art exhibits, featuring Gibberd's work and that of other visiting artists, along with works by WT students and faculty members, will open for the public March 1 and continue on display during the festival.

Presentation by the WT Oratorio Society of J. S. Bach's "Sleepers Wake" and Faure's "Requiem" will be given at 3 p. m. March 1. The group is directed by Royal Brantley, assistant professor of music. A program given jointly by the departments will be held March 2 at 8 p. m. in the Branding Iron Theatre, when music of Shakespeare's day will be presented by the music department, and a film of Baylor University's version of "Hamlet" will be shown.

A four-day run of "The Innocents," a weird play based on Henry James' story, "The Turn of the Screw," will open March 3 in the Branding Iron Theatre. The play was scheduled earlier in February, but was postponed because of the illness of a cast member.

The play will be directed by William A. Moore, assisted by Robert L. Antrim, technical director of the BIT. Admission will be 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children.

A piano festival for high school musicians from the Tri-State area is to be held March 7, and a combined concert of the WT A Cappella Choir and Concert Band will close the festival March 8.

Gibberd, the festival's main speaker, has become widely known for his one-man shows through the Southwest. He has been featured artist in shows in such European cities as London, Amsterdam, Paris and Barcelona, and in New York, Los Angeles, and Denver in this country.

His paintings are owned by persons in Europe, Canada, Hong Kong, and throughout the United States. His "Red River," an oil painting, hangs in the corridors of Amarillo High School.

T. S. Stevenson Sr. underwent surgery this morning in Phoenix, Ariz., where he and his wife had gone earlier to visit their daughter, Mrs. Nell Jennings, and grandchildren. Stevenson is in Wing K, Memorial Hospital, in Phoenix.

Tom Z. Parrish Will Speak Here

Tom Z. Parrish, director of development at Wayland Baptist College, will be the speaker at tomorrow's meeting of the Brotherhood of the Calvary Baptist Church at the church.

Providing special music will be Phillip Waters, Mike Poole, Jerry Reynolds, Gerald Free and Bill Lightsey. Ralph Robinson, social chairman for the Brotherhood, has announced that pie and ice cream and coffee or tea will be served.

Men of the community are invited. Fifty or 60 persons are expected to attend according to Keith Poole, president of the Brotherhood.

C of C Manager Is P-TA Guest

Jack Lacy, manager of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, will be guest speaker for the Canyon P-TA Thursday night.

The P-TA meeting will be in the Elementary School Auditorium and will begin at 7:45 p. m.

Sondra Hines Wins Science Medal

Sondra Hines, a senior in Canyon High School, is the 1959 winner of the Bausch & Lomb Honorary Science Award Medal.

The award is given annually to the senior who achieves the highest scholastic standing in science subjects in almost 7,000 schools. The winners each year are eligible to compete for science scholarships at the University of Rochester.

Cartoon Festival Slated Saturday

A kiddie cartoon festival has been scheduled for 10:30 a. m. Saturday at the Olympic Theatre. The hour-long show, featuring Bugs Bunny cartoons, will benefit the American Heart Association and the local heart fund campaign.

Admission will be the envelopes distributed at school. Door prizes will be given.

World-Famed Pianist Plays Here Thursday

Brussels figures prominently in the career of an American-born pianist who will play in Canyon Thursday as the third artist of the season in the Canyon Community Concert Association series. The concert begins at 8 p. m. in the Administration Building auditorium.

Leon Fleisher has had a number of important things happen to him in Brussels, Belgium. It was in 1952 that Belgium catapulted Fleisher to fame, when he became the first American to win the famous Queen Elisabeth of Belgium International Music Competition. And it was in Brussels that the judges picked Fleisher as "the best young pianist in the world."

Then again last year, Brussels and Fleisher came together again. Fleisher was selected as a representative of American music at the Brussels World's Fair.

Leon Fleisher was born in 1928, and began his piano studies when he was four. He gave his first public recital when he was six. And when he was 10, Artur Schnable heard him play and broke a long-standing rule to accept no students under the age of 16.

For the next 10 years, Fleisher studied under Schnable, first at Lake Como in Italy and later in New York when World War II began. In 1943, Fleisher had his "adult" debut at the age of 15 with the San Francisco Orchestra under Pierre Monteux.

A year later, Fleisher had his first performance with the New York Philharmonic, again under Monteux, who called Fleisher the "pianistic find of the century." In 1950, Fleisher returned to Europe, and won the Brussels contest in 1952.

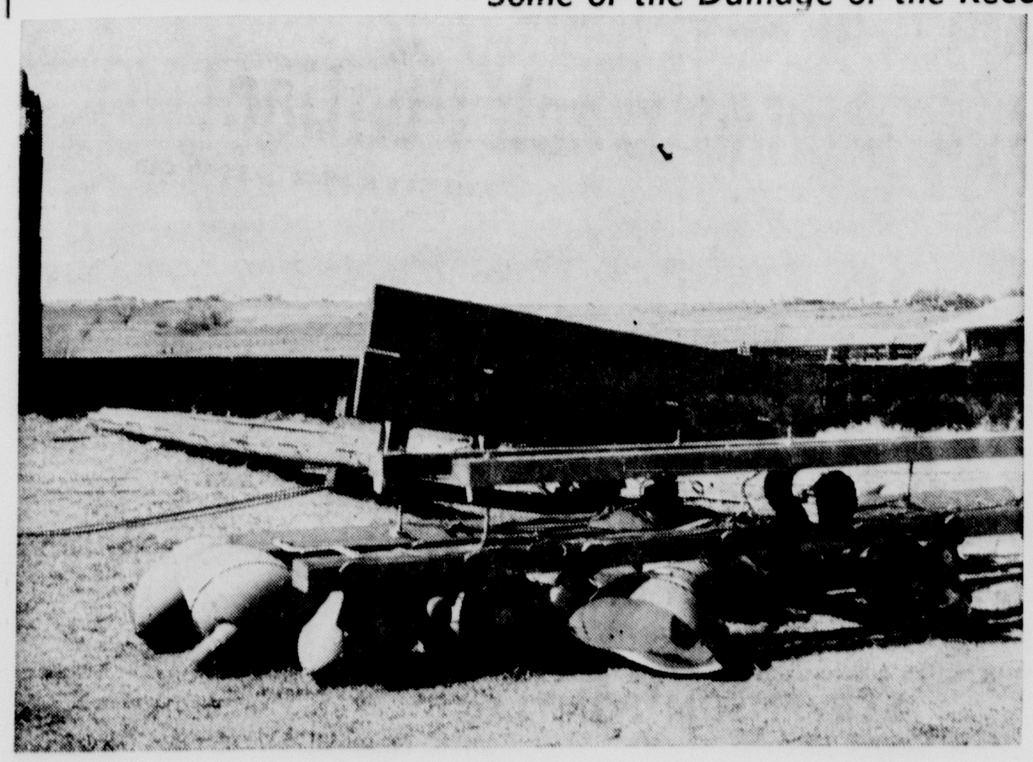
Today, as an established musician and master of his profession, Fleisher leads a half-American, half-European life with a tour in the United States during the concert season and an annual Brussels-and-beyond tour of Europe.

Fleisher has played before much of the world—France, Germany, Spain, Italy, Holland, Scandinavia, the U. S., Canada and South America. His success in South America was so great that there is now an "Association Musical Leon Fleisher" in Buenos Aires—the equivalent of an American fan club.

He is married to the former Dorothy Druzinsky of New York City and they have two children, Deborah Anne, 5, and Eugene, just past 2. When on his European tour, Fleisher moves his family to Paris or Rome, and they return to the U. S. for the seasonal tour.

Admission to the concert is by concert association membership only.

Some of the Damage of the Recent Big Wind



Two of the things that were blown around during the big wind of a week ago were a tall brick fence at the residence of Dr. W. J. Wooten Jr., above, and the first-base light pole at the Little League park. The tall light pole was broken off about 10 feet above the ground and fell out across the playing field, with bits of broken glass spread all around.

County Districts Considered

Each time the state legislature meets, a bill to change the districting of county commissioners precincts is introduced. The plans are a little different each time, but the intent is the same—to give more representation on the commissioners court to the area where most of the people live.

This year's bill would require re-districting on a population basis in this manner:

1. If county precincts are so divided that one precinct contains less than 10 per cent, or more than 40 per cent, of the county population, then precincts can be re-divided, provided that the county judge receives a petition signed by 20 per cent of the voters in the county requesting that an election be held to let the voters decide on re-division.

2. If the election carries, the division shall be as follows: If 50 per cent of the county population is within an area of less than 25 per cent of the total area of the county, the county may be divided into three precincts instead of the present four.

These three precincts shall be one precinct with 50 per cent of the population but less than 50 per cent of the land area, and two other precincts. Two county commissioners will be elected from the precinct that has half of the people, and the other two precincts will elect one commissioner each.

This re-districting plan is based on the philosophy that the people should have greater representation in government. That is the philosophy that most of our governmental system is based on.

Yet, we believe there is a fallacy in this idea. We think that the county government was set up to take care of the needs of a thinly-populated land area, most usually rural. The needs of a heavily-populated area are the responsibility of cities.

If the county government is ruled by the needs of the heavily-populated area, the city, then there will be no government looking out for the little folks down in the corners of the county where there are no cities.

We can see a vast inequity in the govmental system as it is running now. Most people see an inequity in the difference in valuation of town and country property. But that is not the inequity.

The inequity is this—most of the county-gained tax money comes from the cities, from ad-valorem taxes and from the county's share of the license tag money. And most of the county tax money is spent in the rural area.

The largest portion of the county budget is for the road and bridge fund, and the next largest amount is for the sheriff's department.

Instead of re-districting commissioners' precincts of a population basis, we'd like to see an entirely new concept studied by the legislature.

We believe that the people cannot afford to keep up overlapping governmental functions. We can see no use in both city police and county sheriff's departments having jurisdiction over the same area: for instance—one should be able to take care of it.

(This editorial is not a criticism of Randall County or any other county, per se. It is a criticism of the county-city relationship in Texas.)

We believe further that the county and city governments should be separated completely. The city should have jurisdiction over the people and area within its boundaries. The county should have jurisdiction over the people and area outside cities. (Of course, by city we mean large cities and not small cities, towns, villages and hamlets.)

The city should provide all services and requirements inside the city and should look nowhere else for help. The county should do the same outside the cities. The city should tax inside the city limits and the county outside.

Such a division would require a number of far-reaching changes. For instance, Randall County has a pretty big debt caused solely by the purchase of right of way for widening highways. Under our proposed division, the county would no longer be required to provide state and federal highway right of way, but right of way for farm to market and county roads only. (This is under the idea that the divided highway and expressway is necessary for huge populations rather than to give rural populations access to markets.)

There would have to be a new system of keeping records of land ownership. Either the county and city would take care of filing deeds for their respective areas, or they could cooperate in financing a central system as now.

Our court system would need to be changed, either setting up a city court of record with the same sort of jurisdiction as the county court now has, or maybe a new system from top to bottom.

It's easy to see any number of problems that would need to be surmounted before such a system could be brought into existence. We believe such a system would tend toward keeping government local, even more than now.

One thing is for sure. If some serious thought is not given the problems of county-city-population, the heavy-populated areas are going to take away the representation of thinly-populated areas.

If county government was set up to take care of the needs of a land area, then something must be done to insure that it does. If, on the other hand, county government is supposed to take care of the needs of population, then the thickly-populated areas must have greater representation.

Year's Flashback

Just a year ago, The Canyon News had a picture of elm tree buds almost ready to burst open.

If you'll look around, you'll see the same business going on right now. The buds on the trees are soft, and green inside. They're so full of life that they are nearly singing songs of joy.

We wonder if the buds will experience the same troubles as last year when they were frozen and had to start again from scratch. We'll almost bet that March holds some surprises for us—we can only hope that one of March's surprises will be plenty of moisture.

Who Is This

Don't fret if your income tax refund check (if you have one) doesn't show your full name, or even if the name on it doesn't seem to be your name at all.

Electronics have taken over, and the checks are printed by machine automatically. So the checks will show only your first initial and your surname. And in the event you have a long surname, the machine just drops the last part of your name.

If your name is Luther H. Wallingstokowski and you get an income tax refund, it will probably be sent to L. Wallingstoko.

In the event that the post office is able to figure out who L. Wallingstoko is, and you receive the check, you must then admit that your name is L. Wallingstoko rather than Luther H. Wallingstokowski.

You see, in order to cash the check, you must endorse it with the same name as printed on the front side. The Infernal Revenue Service suggests you endorse it a second time with your full name, apparently an attempt to keep hold of your real name.

None of this applies to us, and probably not to many others. We don't expect an income tax refund. In fact, we fall under the classification of those who figure their income tax this way:

1. How much did you make?
2. How much did you spend?
3. Send in the difference.
4. Borrow some more to send in, too.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Harold Hudson in the Ochiltree County Herald: Last week end was an example of how utterly unscientific and unpredictable our weather is, despite the claims to the contrary. On television and radio and through the weather bureau statements in the newspapers, a giant storm was predicted. Livestock warnings were forecast for early Sunday morning. Cold rain, turning to snow, and high winds, were predicted. KFDA-TV even had a late, late special weather program to tell farmers and others how to protect their property.

So what happened? Sunday was foggy and not so cold. By noon the clouds broke away and the sun came out. Temperatures went up to 64 the next day.

We think it was simpler in the old days when you looked to the north and when you saw a bank of dark blue clouds moving in, you figured you were in for a blizzard. Used to be people looked at the animals for signs of abrupt weather changes and these beasts probably did as good a job of predicting as does present equipment.

"Hotchkiss gambles as if there were no tomorrow," said one. "Maybe," commented the other, "he knows something."

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By BOYCE HOUSE

"What are you Texans going to do about Alaska?"

This is the question that citizens of the Lone Star State have heard many times from their friends over the nation in the last few months.

The answer is "Nothing — it won't be necessary."

Texas long ago became synonymous with size — and, once an idea finds lodgement in the human mind, it is next to impossible to uproot it.

If you wear a Panama, chances are that it didn't come from Panama but Ecuador; St. Patrick was not an Irishman; chili is not a Mexican food, as any Mexican will tell you, with considerable fire; no witches were burned in New England—(they were hanged); Mount Olympus, the home of the gods, would be a foothill in the Rockies; the grass in Kentucky isn't really blue and the composer of "My Old Kentucky Home" was not a Kentuckian; the Trojan War was only a minor disturbance in Asia Minor; Billy Rose says the Venus de Milo couldn't get a job as a Broadway show girl; and the Scotch bagpipe was invented by the Irish, who then wished it off on the Scotch.

But try to convince the public of these things!

Similarly—

Texas has come to be synonymous with "bigness." When someone asked Dr. Wernher von Braun if there was a likelihood that two man-made satellites would collide, he replied that such a happening was highly improbable, adding, "You must remember that space is large; it is even larger than Texas."

As a matter of statistics, Texas never really has been the "biggest." Not only is Australia larger but Canada has two territories and three provinces, each of which is bigger than Texas.

But who cares?

I have made a personal investigation since statehood was conferred on Alaska and have found that Texas is just as huge as it ever was; it's still 801 miles in a straight line north and south and 773 miles east and west; and it still has 254 counties, one of which lacks only two square miles of being twice as large as Rhode Island and Delaware combined, with the District of Columbia thrown in.

But Texas is more, much more, than so many thousands of square miles. Texas has cowboys, mavericks, longhorns, mirages, horned frogs that live 31 years sealed up in courthouse cornerstones without air, food or water; and Texas Rangers, as all TV viewers and moviegoers throughout the world know. Texas produces more oil, cotton and sulphur than any other state; also more sheep, though there is nothing sheepish about Texas; and more salt, which is taken by visitors—a few grains at a time—with our tall tales.

Texans, mainly new arrivals from Southern states, it is true, but Texans nonetheless, won their own independence in 1836, set up a republic and sent ambassadors to foreign countries, including the United States; then, in 1846, entered the Union of their own free will. Yes, they did, later on, try to leave the Union, but, after four years in which to reflect, reconsidered. Even so, the last battle of the Civil War was fought in Texas, weeks after Appomattox and of course, the Texans won it.

Texas A&M College contributed more officers to the Army in World War II than West Point did. Texas has the Alamo. The majority leader of the United States Senate is from Texas. The Speaker of the House of Representatives is from Texas. And the president of the United States is from Texas.

The San Jacinto monument is taller than the Washington monument and the Texas capitol is higher than the national capitol.

And it is my understanding that the inventor of the Eskimo pie was from Texas.

Among the 49 states, Texas is what the forward pass is to football and what the slide trombone is to the band. Texas is tradition, history, courage, energy, friendliness, achievement, hospitality and humor that is good-humored.

Ask the man on the street who the present world's heavyweight titleholder is and it's better than even that he can't tell you but speak of "the Champ" and he knows you mean the greatest of 'em all, Jack Dempsey.

So, whatever the statistical tables show, Texas will always be "the Champ."

Mayor's Soap Box

(The opinions reflected herein are not necessarily those of the other two commissioners).

There are two sides to every story, but it seems that rumors provide several more.

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

With committee hearings going full tilt, the Legislature has reached the rough and tumble stage.

Committee hearings give everyone who has anything to say about a proposed measure a chance to come and speak up. It brings people to Austin in droves. And many speak up — very bluntly.

This year's lawmakers, particularly in the House, seem to be falling into an early pattern of much work, little play. In part, the shortage of sociability is attributed to the hard-fought speaker's race. It divided the House into two camps, whose members, for the most part, stayed aloof from each other during early weeks.

A second sobering factor is attributed to the new lobby control law. Actually, the lobby registration has probably done more than any one thing in years, to make lobbying seem common-place, respectable. A total registration of some 700 indicated that just about everybody and his brother has a lobbyist.

But the law also requires that each lobbyist make a monthly report on the amount spent influencing legislation. Herein comes the reason for caution in entertainment. No one particularly minds being identified as a lobbyist, but too large expenses might incur the risk of being tagged a "rich lobbyist."

Rough Road

Toughest sledding continues to be over the money problem.

Gov. Price Daniel let go with both barrels at critics of his plan for clearing the state deficit and raising additional money for future state services.

Daniel's principal target is Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, whose 18 months' work with the State Tax Study Commission convinced him Texas' taxing had to branch out, partly through a 1.5 per cent sales tax.

Daniel's money program is based primarily on a natural gas severance tax and increases in a number of present taxes. He warned he'd fight for this program to the last ditch, even into a third term, if necessary.

Matter of Math

First official consideration of a part of the governor's money program brought a real set-to.

It was a hearing on "the bookkeeping bill" by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee. This is a proposal, sponsored by Rep. James E. Bates of Edinburg, to credit to the general revenue fund $18,000,000 from the omnibus tax fund. Since the general revenue fund is expected to be $65,000,000 in the red by August 31, this would help to ease the pain in that area.

Representatives from the state comptroller's office called the plan unsound, declared such juggling around would just be "legalizing a false statement." Legislative critics labeled it "check kiting."

But members of the governor's office defended it stoutly as a means of giving a "true picture of financial condition."

Parkhouse vs. Labor

More heat was generated when representatives of organized labor came up to protest Sen. George Parkhouse's union reporting bill.

Briefly, the Parkhouse bill would prohibit use of union dues for political purposes and require unions to file financial statement audited by a certified public accountant.

Labor officials protested the some phrasing in the bill was so broad as to limit union members from expressing opinions and hence free speech. They also said the CPA requirement would be too heavy an expense for small unions.

Parkhouse said many union members had asked him to sponsor such a bill so they could get an accounting of what goes with union funds. Some, he said, complained their dues money was used for purposes with which they did not agree.

School Bills

Committee hearings on higher education appropriations brought varied, but cautious, expressions on how these increasing costs might be met.

Before the House Appropriations panel, A. M. Muldrow, Higher Education Commission chairman, said that the commission was studying the question of asking for higher college tuition rates. State college tuition was doubled, from $50 to $100 a year, last session.

Before the Senate Finance Committee, most of a group of 18 junior college presidents said they would approve a general sales tax "if necessary."

By The Dozens

More and more bills keep pouring into the legislative mill daily. Among recent ones are those measures which would:

PROTECT PUBLIC RECORDS by providing a three to seven year prison term for unlawful removal, by Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford.

CREATE A NEW COMMISSION to regulate telephone, gas and electric power companies statewide, by Rep. Bill Kilgarlin of Houston.

KEEP PASSENGER TRAINS running longer after revenue declines, by Rep. Clyde Miller of Houston. Railroads cannot now be required to operate passenger service at a loss.

INCREASE FRANCHISE TAX on corporations by 60 cents on each $1,000 capital, by Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston. Part of the Daniel tax program, it would raise an estimated $14,000,000 this year, $15,000,000 next year, then expire.

RAISE STATE EMPLOYEE pay 5 to 20 per cent on salaries under $4,800, by Travis County legislators.

PERMIT FLEXIBLE RATES on automobile insurance, varying according to good and bad records of drivers, by Sen. Jarrard Secrest of Temple. This is a highly controversial bill which was defeated last session.

TAX TRADING STAMPS by 10 per cent, by Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs.

REGULATE BOXING AND WRESTLING by a new commission created fo rthat purpose, by Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont.

ABOLISH AERONAUTICS BOARD by Rep. Bill Hollowell of Grand Saline. He called it a "needless waste" of state money with the CAA serving all useful aviation functions. He said he is considering a similar bill to end the Good Neighbor Commission.

Dear Editor,

The dogs are running in packs again on the streets of Canyon. Our children are in danger. I wonder if we citizens can move together as a town and care for our animals in a humane way. To me, the humane way is to either have collars and a rabies tag on your dog or dispose of it. An uncared for dog goes wild and then these things can happen and are happening.

1) Expectant mothers can't take their daily walks.

2) Newspaper boys (a natural threat to any dog) are attacked doing their jobs.

3) Postmen must carry clubs to defend themselves.

4) Small children can die.

Let's control the dogs now before people are killed as the cow was killed in Amarillo.

Call the police if there is an uncollared, untagged dog in your neighborhood. I have found our police force overwhelmingly cooperative if the citizens will fulfill their responsibilities and alert them.

Remember it is your fault and mine if anyone is hurt!

Honor Biology Prof For Research Work

Dr. William A. Cooper, associate professor of biology at West Texas State College, has been elected a fellow by the Texas Academy of Science.

Dr. Cooper was honored by the group because of his recent research in the field of vitamins and because of his articles published in various scientific journals.

He became a member of the WT faculty in 1957 after earning his Ph.D. at Texas A&M. He and Dr. S. O. Brown, professor of biology at A&M, collaborated on articles on the vitamin biotin, which resulted from Dr. Cooper's doctoral research.

Quintet Represents WT at Convention

One of the music department's special ensembles, the Woodwind Quintet, will represent West Texas State College on the program of the Music Educators National Conference annual Southwest convention Monday.

The convention is scheduled at the University of Wichita in Wichita, Kans., and will attract music educators from throughout the central and southwestern states.

Directed by David L. Kaplan, assistant professor of music, the quintet will perform at a session of the National Association of College Wind and Percussion Instructors.

The group presented its program for an area audience last week in a benefit performance to raise funds to make the trip to Wichita.

Ensemble Class Presents Recital

The piano ensemble class of Mrs. Herschel Coffee played in recital in her studio at Canyon Junior High School at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Playing both solo and two-piano numbers were Cynthia Brown, Faye Brown, Cynthia Gerald, Sue Kiser, Trudy Johnson, Bobbye Kaye Parsons, Jackie Stone, Huella Taylor, Holly Jo Troth and Lee Ann Kelley.

TRADING TIME - - - -

It's just plain good farming business to trade right now at
HEATH & LAWLESS OLIVER CO.

Here's why: When you trade now for the equipment you'll need for the coming year, you'll get Oliver's "Trading Time" Bonus. Oliver will pay you in cash at the rate of six per cent on your trade-in or down payment until your season of normal use. That isn't all. You'll get a giant allowance on your trade-in machinery, because HEATH & LAWLESS wants it now, while there's time to condition it for resale in the normal selling season. Giant allowances . . . a six per cent bonus . . . and full protection against price increases. That's what you get when you trade now for the Oliver combine, baler, corn picker or forage harvester you'll need in the year ahead. It's just plain good farming business to trade now at

HEATH & LAWLESS OLIVER CO.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Hawaiian Statehood

Last week the Interior Committee approved a bill granting statehood to Hawaii. The vote was 25 to 4. I was one of the four. My opposition to statehood for Alaska and Hawaii has been known for a long time.

Many attempts have been made to associate opposition to statehood for Hawaii with racial prejudice or some other type of emotional basis. This, of course, is not true. The opposition to both Alaska and Hawaii was based upon two primary reasons: (1) non-contiguity to the continental United States; and (2) economic factors.

Both of these will be thoroughly discussed in Floor debate. They are too extensive to attempt proper discussion in a short newsletter.

One of the major reasons used by the proponents of statehood was the argument that Hawaii had been promised statehood when it joined up with the United States. This creates a rather odd situation which will be difficult for the people of Hawaii to reconcile.

If such a promise was ever made, it would have been a promise to all of the territory of the Hawaiian Islands at the time it became associated with this country. However, the bill granting statehood to Hawaii does not include all of the Territory of Hawaii. It includes only the eight major islands.

The smaller islands, which certainly would have been included in the promise of statehood, have been cast adrift insofar as statehood status is concerned. They will remain in the same territorial status that they have always occupied.

It has also been argued that until statehood status is granted to Hawaii, the people of those islands will be second-class citizens. Yet, these same people are willing to cut off several of the islands in the original Hawaiian archipelago and simply disregard them either as to promise of statehood or as to the question of second-class citizenship.

The truth is that this type of reasoning does not make sense. The facts of the matter are that these islands are not included by the proponents of statehood because it is not economically feasible to include them, which is, of course, one of the reasons why statehood should not be granted to Hawaii.

The Veterans Housing Bill

A great hue and cry arose in Washington last week, both at the White House and in the Halls of Congress. The President argued that the Congress was trying to unbalance his budget by the passage of the veterans housing bill. The President's stalwarts on Capitol Hill argued long and loud that the passage of this bill would upset the budget that had been so carefully balanced by the President.

The bill to which they were referring was a bill providing for breaking the log jam in veterans housing starts. The bill actually consisted of two parts. One part provided for increasing the interest rate from 4¾ per cent to 5¼ per cent.

The other portion of the bill provided for the use of $300 million to be used by the Veterans Administration for the purpose of making direct loans to those veterans living in areas outside of the metropolitan areas who were unable to obtain home financing from private enterprise banking and lending institutions.

The bill did not provide for loose spending, as would be indicated by some of the stories that went out. The fact is that the White House was strongly in support of increasing the interest rate from 4¾ per cent to 5¼ per cent, yet was opposed to that portion of the Veterans Housing Bill making it possible for veterans in the smaller towns and cities to be able to get loans to build homes.

The direct loan money is available only if the veteran in the smaller town or city cannot get home financing from private institutions.

Naturally, the large lending institutions are for the increased interest rate, and also like to have their outstanding loans as close to home as possible. This means that it is very difficult for the veterans living in the lesser populated areas of our country to be able to build homes under the veterans program. This is the thing we are trying to correct. We hope that the private lending institutions will meet the needs of the veterans.

There was much opposition to the increase in the interest rate, but everyone realized that unless the interest rate increase was permitted, the private lending institutions simply would not loan money to the veterans to build homes, either in the metropolitan areas or in the lesser populated areas.

Civil Rights

The President last week delivered to the Congress a message concerning his feelings about civil rights. It was a seven-point program in which the President, with all due respect, undoubtedly permitted some of his advisors to lead him into advocating several measures that would further centralize the government, place in the hands of the Executive powers that are now supposed to be exercised by our judicial branch of the government, and set up a new commission.

The President would also extend the life of the Civil Rights Commission, give financial and technical aid to State and local agencies in carrying out de-segregation decisions, and provide for children of armed forces personnel to be educated when schools have been closed because of de-segregation troubles.

This message was in keeping with what the Congress expected the President to recommend.

Don't lose faith just because a few laws are being broken—look at the Ten Commandments.

1959-60 Buffalo Schedules Told

The addition of Missouri Valley Conference champion North Texas State completes West Texas State's 10-game football schedule for 1959.

The Buffs, who open a new 20,000-seat bowl Sept. 26 with Border Conference rival University of Arizona, will play five at home and a like number on the road. Other home attractions include Mississippi Southern, Drake University, Hardin-Simmons and Virginia Tech.

Only two teams — Drake and North Texas, were not played in 1959. The Buffs have met both schools before, however, last playing Drake in 1957 and North Texas in 1953.

The final home game Nov. 7 against Virginia Tech has been designated Homecoming and will be the only day game on the home card.

The Buffs, coached by Clark Jarnagin, move into their modern new home on the heels of the school's worst season in history. They won only one of 10 starts in 1958, a 39-32 decision over New Mexico State in the finale.

Signing of North Texas State on a home-and-home basis also completed the Buffs' 10-game card for 1960. Texas Tech of the Southwest Conference and Wichita of the Missouri Valley are new faces on that schedule.

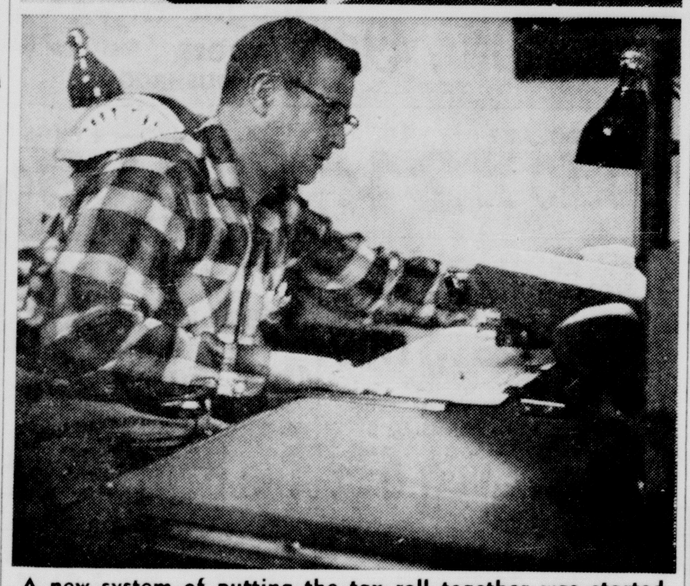
New Tax Office Help



A new system of putting the tax roll together was started recently by the Randall County tax office when two new machines were installed. One machine, with a keyboard like a typewriter, stamps names, addresses, property descriptions and valuations on metal stencils. The stencils are then fed into the second machine, and it prints the information in three different places on the tax roll sheets. The sheets are then taken to a posting machine that has been in use for several years, and the posting machine figures the tax and writes it on the sheet. In addition to making up the rolls, the addressing machine puts the information on tax statements, receipts and office copies, and it can be used for making up the delinquent tax roll.

Back-seat drivers are usually right-seat navigators, perched comfortably — and dangerously — near the fellow who pilots the automobile. Whether male or female, they can (1) quote the rules, (2) quickly sum up the driver's weaknesses, and (3) become quite moralistic on the side of the law.

Any resemblance to the same individual behind the wheel is purely coincidental.

Both husband and wife, it seems to us, should drive occasionally with the other in the car. It reminds each that things look differently when viewed dead-on or slightly at an angle.

The spouse declares he would find life tedious if it weren't for the daily drama of our gasps and tensed-up motions as he makes a thrilling turn into oncoming traffic — says it makes him feel daring and venturesome. We often wonder what some steadier friends of our talk about en route, since she doesn't drive and apparently has no interest in directing the motorman.

We've always considered our mania for directing the fellow at the wheel as a weakness. Imagine our amazement, however, to find that some psychiatrist says backseat driving serves a sound purpose — if it's done when the man or woman behind the wheel is wool-gathering. Says it gets his dander up and snaps him out of his dreaming. If the guy is just plain sleepy, howeve, one should ge gentle with him, luring him over to the highway's shoulder for 20 winks before proceeding.

We're now planning a new approach to right-seat driving. We'll speak thusly: "Are you day-dreaming, or just drowsy?" If the answer is "Huh?" as it probably will be, we'll investigate further. If the conversation gets involved before we find out what's causing the vagaries, we'll say — from the hospital bed — "Pardon me, I should have made you angry!"

Panhandle High School Press To Celebrate 25th Anniversary

When the Panhandle High School Press Association meets here March 24 at West Texas State College, it will mark its 25th annual convention.

The association was founded March 24, 1934, when Canyon High School's newspaper staff and sponsor completed organization and met with 11 other schools. Since that time membership has grown to include nearly 50 schools of the Panhandle and South Plains.

Until 1939 the association met in different cities which bid for the convention. When the group met in Borger in 1938, it was decided to make WT permanent headquarters for PHSPA.

Olin E. Hinkle, now associate professor of journalism at the University of Texas, and in 1934 an editor for the Pampa Daily News, was chosen general manager of PHSPA when it was founded.

The convention this year is expected to draw more than 300 high school journalists and sponsors, who will hear speakers and conduct section meetings on newspaper and yearbook production. The meeting closes each year with the awarding of trophies and prizes for excellence in writing and editing.

Judges this year for the contests will be the staff members of the Houston Chronicle. The contests are conducted in news stories, features, editorials, advertising, photography, sports, sports columns, and general columns for individual honors.

Other awards are made for best newspaper in three categories: printed, mimeographed, and printed in community newspapers; and for best yearbooks in three divisions.

Top award each year goes to "the outstanding high school journalist of the Panhandle." Schools may enter one student each in the contest, which is sponsored by the Amarillo Globe-News Publishing Company.

Individual trophies for the contests are also sponsored by the Hereford Brand, Canyon News, Tulia Herald, Borger News-Herald, and the Ochiltree County Herald.

Deadline for entries in the contests is Feb. 26.

Officers for the association this year are JoAnn Thompson of Pampa, president, Betty Mayhon of Perryton, vice president, Janice Hays of Lockney, secretary, and John Menke of Canyon, treasurer.

Dear Editor,

I may have been misinformed some ten or twelve years ago, but for a long time I have had the impression that there is a city ordinance in Canyon which prohibits indiscriminate cutting across the street in cars to arrive at the Post Office.

I am almost daily confronted with the necessity of applying my brakes to avoid a collision with some "Rugged Individualist" who insists that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points.

Will you kindly find out for me if there is such an ordinance and if so, why is it not enforced.

Bryan E. McDonald

(Dear Mr. McDonald. There is such an ordinance and it has been enforced at different times. Would that there were more who would abide by that ordinance without the necessity of strict enforcement. The Editor.)

People who are inclined to make light of themselves shouldn't expect others to shine up to them.

Probably the reason most people resent being told things for their own good is because it never seems to do any.

The nicest way to wish them

Inspection Sticker Deadline April 15

About 87 per cent of the cars registered in Randall County have not had the 1959 Motor Vehicle Inspection, according to an announcement by Capt. Alan Johnson, head of the MVI Service of the Department of Public Safety.

Drivers are urged to have their vehicles inspected now rather than wait for the April 15 deadline. After that date, motorists are liable to fines for driving cars without valid stickers.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Farmers who intend to plant grass on Conservation Reserve land this year should contact Ed Dwyer, Canyon FFA instructor, if they wish to rent one of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District drills. These drills rent for 50 cents per acre.

Other equipment owned by the district includes a land leveler, two shredders, one legume seeder (one that seeds in growing sorghum), one two-yard scraper, one insect sprayer, one weed sprayer and one fertilizer spreader. All of this equipment is supervised by the local FFA boys and their instructor. The FFA boys receive part of the rental payment for taking care of the district's equipment.

The district charges the following rates on their equipment: land leveler, $5.00 per day; 15 foot shredder, $15.00 per day; 5-foot shredder, $5.00 per day; legume seeder, 50 cents per acre; scraper, $5.00 per day; sprayers, $10.00 per day and fertilizer spreader, $2.00 per day.

The supervisors purchased this equipment after ten farmers or ranchers had signed a petition requesting that the equipment be purchased. If you want the district to purchase other equipment, see one of your supervisors.

Study Club Has 'Tour of Mexico'

A program on Mexico was given when the Canyon Study Club met Feb. 10 at the Phillips Parkmoor restaurant in Amarillo.

Husbands of members were special guests for the Mexican dinner, followed by a "Tour of Mexico" in colored slides, presented by Dr. and Mrs. Ples Harper.

Plans were announced for a game night to be held Saturday from 7:30-10:30 p. m. in the all-purpose room of Canyon Elementary School. Proceeds from ticket sales are to go to the Canyon Community Center.

Hundreds See Art Exhibit

Several hundred visitors saw the display of oil paintings Sunday in the Fine Arts Hall of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. The paintings consist of landscapes, still life and portraits by Hereford, Canyon, Tulia and Amarillo students of Louis Neugebauer.

Neugebauer is director of the Vienna Art Studio in Amarillo. He and Canyon students, who were hostesses at a reception, greeted visitors to the exhibition.

Commenting on the exhibit, Neugebauer said:

"In order to avoid disappointing those individuals who have an overrated opinion of their knowledge—those self-styled experts of 'seems-to-be-art'—I want to state that this exhibition is not showing any pictures of the pampered madhouse art. There is no so-called art with crazy meanderings, puzzled staggared lines, crippled squares, roundish triangles, distortions and other grotesqueries.

"The life of art is banned from this exhibition. The students of the Vienna Art Studio are showing traditional art—this means realistic art—made with all the knowledge of the laws of art to try to attain perfection. The modernists try to degrade this art by dubbing it 'Post Card Work.'

"No attempt has been made to confuse those who consider themselves 'uneducated' in art with high sounding and pompous explanations, suggestions, inferences and cliches, which are the stock in trade of the high spirited champions of modern art.

"I am very sure nobody will take this exhibition as a bizarre display to invoke laughter. Everyone with a sensitivity for truth and beauty in art will find something to admire. He will find with his own brain, and without any explanations, than an apple really looks like an apple.

"The students of my studio have done very good work—judge for yourself. Each one has striven for truth, has attempted to develop her own good taste of natural beauty in art; each has tried eagerly to master the laws of art, with 'perfection' as the goal."

Only oil paintings are being shown because of space limitations. Skill in sketching, decoration, caricature, watercolor and pastels will be shown at a later date. The exhibition will continue through March 15.

Wayside News

The Rev. D. L. Hunt filled his appointments Sunday and was a dinner guest in the Charles Kennedy home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Scroggins spent part of the week with his mother, who had surgery in a Lubbock hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Martin and Derrel spent Saturday in Amarillo. They had their car repaired while they shopped.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Modisette are adding another bedroom on their house.

Jimmy Adams is home on a 10-day leave, after which he will be stationed in Amarillo.

Mrs. Sammie May is back home after being in the hospital at Tulia for treatment.

The children enjoyed the Valentine party at the school. After the party, they showered Fay Modisette with Valentines at her home as she was unable to attend the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Mayes of Amarillo are weekend visitors with his brother and family, the Sam Mayes family.

Charles and Robert Kennedy attended the annual PCA meeting and barbecue in Amarillo Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiatt Heisler are driving a new black and white Chevrolet.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamblen visited her brother-in-law, Cecil Benton, last Sunday afternoon in the hospital at Lubbock.

The farm and ranch day last Monday afternoon at Claude was well attended. The program began at 4:30 p. m. with a banquet served to the group by the Claude Lions Club at 6 p. m. An electronic cooking demonstration was held by Southwestern Public Service Co. Attending from Wayside were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Wiatt Heisler, Mrs. E. J. Mahler, Mrs. Allie McNeill, Mr. and Mrs. Melton McGehee, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Burnette, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamblen and M. L. Gillham.

Charles Kennedy, Roland Adams, Henry Hamblen and Clifford Stevens attended the Southern Baptist Association Brotherhood last Tuesday night at Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamblen visited her mother, Mrs. L. M. Harris of Amarillo in the Jess Dodson home in Canyon. Mrs. Dodson and Mrs. Hamblen are sisters.

Henry Hamblen, Herbert Hunt and Joe Richey of Claude flew in Hunt's airplane to Dallas last Thursday to attend a Farm Bureau meeting. They returned Friday.

John McGehee was taken from Neblett Hospital in Canyon to Thurman Rest Home in Amarillo. His address is John T. McGehee, c/o Thurman's Rest Home, 312 West 9th St., Amarillo. He would appreciate visits and cards from relatives and friends.

Toastmasters Induct Member

Joe Frank was accepted as a members of the Canyon Toastmasters Club in an induction ceremony preceding the program last Monday night. The inducting officer was Dr. C. R. Nester.

Speakers for the meeting were Joe Frank and Guy Knowles. The topicmaster was Hampton Lisle, and the toastmaster for the evening was Dr. J. L. Markham.

The general evaluator was Jerry LaGrone, and the individual evaluators were R. C. McNeill and Dr. C. A. Nester.

During a brief business session, Bob Wilkinson was chosen to represent the Canyon Club in the speech contest to be held in Hereford on March 7. The alternate representative will be Mike Morris.

Mothers-in-Law Installs Officers

Officers were installed for the Canyon Mother-in-Law Club when the group met Thursday in the home of Mrs. N. A. Croson.

Installed by Mrs. R. T. Bowman were Mrs. G. B. Combs, president; Mrs. C. W. Dunn, vice president; Mrs. T. T. Fain, secretary; Mrs. H. C. Hudson, chaplain; Mrs. T. V. Slack, treasurer; Mrs. Hattie Brasuel, reporter; Mrs. Mary Burtz, painist; and Mrs. R. D. Lowry, chorister.

Mrs. G. W. Cox pinned a corsage on each officer as she was installed.

Mrs. Bowman gave the devotional, with Mrs. Croson leading the prayer.

Besides the officers, those present were Mrs. W. G. Rose, Mrs. J. M. Stewart, Mrs. C. H. Stratton, Mrs. Addie Hefner, Mrs. W. I. Wester, Mrs. E. C. Hawes, and a visitor, Mrs. J. E. Kelso.

Next meeting will be March 12 at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. G. B. Combs, 1500 Sixth Avenue, with Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Croson and Mrs. Slack as co-hostesses.

Toastmistresses Finish Organizing

Final organizational decisions were made at a meeting of the Toastmistress Club Friday night, and a full program will begin at the next meeting Feb. 27.

During the business session, it was decided that meetings will be each second and fourth Friday nights at 7:30 p. m. in the Little House of Fellowship of All Saints Episcopal Church. Dues will be $8 annually, to be paid $4 each six months.

A bylaws committee will be composed of Mrs. Lee Johnson, Mrs. Clyde Warwick and Mrs. James Cole. The program chairman will be Mrs. Norman Stover.

The program for the next meeting includes Mrs. Winn giving the invocation, Dr. Boswell as topicmistress, Mrs. Parker as toastmistress, and prepared speeches will be given by Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Warwick, Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Walters.

Any woman interested in the club is invited to the meeting.

Summer temperatures in Maine average from 60 to 70 degrees.

H-FA Announces Production Records

The Holstein-Friesian Association of America has announced the completion of outstanding official production records by registered Holstein cows owned by Richmond Hales and Louis G. Hinders.

Milked twice daily for 33 days, Hales Wood Fobes Kendra 4437899 produced a total of 13,011 pounds of milk and 476 pounds of butterfat as a three-year-old.

Palo Duro Princess Empress 4087080, owned by Hinders, produced a total of 16,630 pounds of milk and 588 pounds of butterfat as a two-year-old. Tierra Blanca Carnation Anne 3722079 produced a total of 15,702 pounds of milk and 565 pounds of butterfat as a five-year-old. The first cow was milked twice daily for 324 days, and the second for 292 days.

Texas A&M College working in close cooperation with the national Holstein organization, supervised the weighing and testing of production as a part of the Herd Improvement Registry program.

This official testing program, commonly referred to as HIR, provides continuing lactation and lifetime production records on every cow in participating registered Holstein herds.

Edith Washington Completes Training

Recruit Edith M. Washington, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence A. Washington of Umbarger, recently completed eight weeks of basic military training at the Women's Army Corps Center, Fort McClellan, Ala.

Recruit Washington received drill and physical fitness training and instruction in Army history, traditions and career fields.

She was graduated from Bent County High School, Las Animas, Colo., in 1951.

Henderson, Mrs. Henry Cone, Mrs. J. H. Wright, Mrs. R. E. Gill, Mrs. T. T. Fain, Mrs. Cunningham and the hostess.

Next meeting will be Friday at 2:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. Pennie Cox.

Wiley Jones Dies In Tennessee

The Canyon News was in error last week when it reported that S. H. Jones died in Cornwall, Tenn. The story should have been written this way:

Wiley Jones, brother of S. H. Jones of Canyon, died in Hohenwald, Tenn., last week.

The Canyon News apologizes to all concerned.
